

My name is Tijani Nagra and I am a fourth-year Psychology BSc student. I am currently a member of the BMS Faculty Council. The past year was filled with challenges and discussions. I enjoyed the involved in these and being able to offer a student perspective on f.e. financial matters, which were present during the academic year. Previously, I was very active in my study association S.V. Dimensie and did a Board year which helped me to understand the different parties at the University. My interest in solving problems is still there, and therefore, I would like to join the faculty council again. I am thankful for the past year and looking forward to working together with the faculty on important matters next year and making sure that students are still represented in discussions.
