INTRA-EUROPEAN CROSS-BORDER MOBILITY: BORDER ASYMMETRIES, CRISIS, AND GOVERNANCE

Mobility across borders in Europe is an important issue for policymakers, member states, border regions, and citizens. The EU, with the vision of a borderless Europe, introduces policies to ensure the free mobility of labor and capital, as well as exchange programs for higher education. However, in recent decades, due to migration flows, pandemics, and security risks, we have witnessed both re-bordering and de-bordering practices in the EU.

Join us for an insightful exploration of the complexities surrounding intra-European cross-border mobility at our upcoming conference. In an era marked by the "mobility turn" and "globalization," understanding border asymmetries, crisis responses, and (multi)governance mechanisms is essential.

Our conference brings together experts and scholars from diverse fields to delve into pressing issues such as economic disparities, social integration, and political challenges affecting cross-border mobility within Europe. Through engaging discussions and interdisciplinary perspectives, we aim to explore strategies for effective governance and cooperation in navigating border complexities.
